

British Jail 220 Rioters Against U.S.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Police filed criminal charges against 220 rioters today after battling an estimated 10,000 screaming marchers in a big anti-American demonstration.

More than 80 policemen were injured and 28 hospitalized Sunday as 1,000 unarmed bobbies fought off demonstrators against the Vietnam war trying to storm the U.S. Embassy on Grosvenor Square.

In Nuernberg, 500 leftwingers protesting the war jeered West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt and for 10 minutes kept him out of his political party's national convention.

In Stockholm, an American newsman said he and a U.S. consul were roughed up by two Americans after being invited to meet with a young American who had deserted from the U.S. Army to escape going to Vietnam.

In Paris, explosions before dawn broke windows at the Chase Manhattan Bank, the Bank of America and the TWA office. No one was hurt.

Those arrested in the London riot were charged with threatening behavior, possession of offensive weapons, assault on police, obstructing police or obstructing the highway. Most of them were released on bail and will appear in court during the week.

Fighting broke out when demonstrators tried to push through three lines of police protecting the embassy.

The demonstrators failed to reach the building, but in 55 minutes of fighting scores were wrestled to the ground and dragged away.

Demonstrators hurled rocks, smoke bombs and red paint at the glass-walled embassy. There was little damage, but 13 windows were smashed by rocks and smoke bombs.

Mounted and foot police pushed back the surging throng without using truncheons or riot sticks. Several police horses were bruised in the melee.

The demonstration began in Trafalgar Square as an orderly protest against American involvement in Vietnam. Most of the protesters were British, but visiting American and European students joined in.

The crowd waved Viet Cong flags and carried banners denouncing the war and the United States. A portrait of the late Cuban Communist leader Che Guevara was prominently displayed. Actress Vanessa Redgrave told the rally: "In my view, a Viet Cong victory is the only way to peace."

conference in Washington ended that.

British editorial writers emphasized that the two-price system will only work if America and Britain can cut down their trade deficits.

"A two-tier price for gold is no more than the most hasty first aid," said the Guardian. Cuts in United States government spending represent the element of surgery."

The Daily Telegraph said the agreement was only a palliative and the real solution lay in resolving the U.S. balance-of-payments problem, including the cost of the Vietnam war.

"For Britain," said the Sun, "the decisive test comes tomorrow ... with the budget. That budget will show whether Britain is at last facing the disagreeable realities of her own situation—or still running away."

The budget is expected to be a severe one designed to wipe out Britain's chronic payments deficit.

Narcotics, Draft Dodgers Fill Prisons

By STEPHEN M. AUG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharp increases in narcotics and draft-law convictions have helped boost the federal prison system's population while lowering the average convict's age.

Officials said the prison system experienced last year the sharpest increase of youth commitments in its history. The average age of the prison population dropped from 29.5 years in 1966 to 28.5 years at the end of 1967.

The jump in the federal system's over-all population reversed a five-year decline. Prison officials cited as another reason for the jump in the prison population the fact that judges have been handing out longer sentences.

A Bureau of Prisons survey of its 35 institutions during a three-week period last month showed there were 781 convicted draft-law violators in the federal prison system at the time.

An official said 632 of these had told prison case workers they tried to avoid the draft for religious reasons. Of these, about 300 claimed to be members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect who did not report to non-combat service in Lieu of military service.

The system received 604 draft-law violators in the 12-month period that ended last June 30, compared with 261 in the previous 12-month period.

Although prison officials did not have available figures to show the increase in bank robbers and narcotics violators, they pointed to statistics from the Administrative Office of the United States Courts to show that youthful crime has been increasing sharply.

The office reported that during the last six months of 1967 the federal courts had experienced a 21.5 per cent increase in Selective Service Act violation cases begun compared with the last six months of 1966.

During the same period the number of cases commenced for narcotics violations were up 22.1 per cent, robbery up 27.2 per cent and homicides 24.1 per cent.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the most important stories—such as the world gold crisis—do not lend themselves to pictorial coverage and are best handled on television with talk and interview programs.

The networks got the experts on camera and had them try to give simple explanations of what the excitement was about, with arguments and speculation on the meaning of the crisis for the average man. Both NBC and CBS whipped up special news programs on the gold crisis Friday night.

And then there is the furiously boiling political pot to be watched and discussed from all sides. Sen Robert F. Kennedy's news conference Saturday, at which he announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, was thoroughly covered—and equally thoroughly talked about by the networks.

NBC's "Travels With Charley" Sunday night was an illustrated reading by Henry Fonda of excerpts from John Steinbeck's book about a trip in a camper-truck—named "Rocky" after Don Quixote's horse—across the United States and back, with his black poodle, Charley, for company.

The program was notable for the ingenious way it illustrated Steinbeck's impressions of his country, since it used the camera as if it were the writer's eyes.

Some of his experiences—a meeting with an itinerant actor, an evening with some French-Canadian potato harvesters, a reunion with a boyhood friend—were re-created using actors. The photography, particularly showing the grandeur of the scenery, was imaginative. Some touches of Steinbeck humor and wry philosophy were illustrated by cartoons.

"The Actor" on ABC Friday night had Sir Alec Guinness as host and guide in an hour when some of the best-known names of the British stage discussed the function of the performer, the writer and the director. The hour had a spontaneous quality about it, and the highlight was a conflict in views between Peter Brook, a director, who explained the importance of his role, and playwright Harold Pinter who felt directors should not get too much in the center of things.

Recommended tonight: "The Bill Cosby Show," NBC, 8-9 EST, with the comedian leaving his "I Spy" role to return to the scenes of his Philadelphia childhood.

THE WELL CHILD

Child's Overactivity Deemed Really an Illness

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Is your child of school age so overactive that he is unable to concentrate? This is a handicap that affects about 4 per cent of all grade school children, according to Dr. Mark Stewart, director of psychiatry at the St. Louis Children's Hospital. These youngsters are unable to sit still even long enough to watch a television show; they talk in class without permission and are rude to the teacher; they wear out their toys and their clothes faster than a normally active child; they run into a busy street without looking for approaching traffic; they get into fights and generally misbehave.

Life is hard for these children and also for their parents, who are likely to blame themselves for having spoiled their child so grievously. In a search for the cause of this illness, for Dr. Stewart believes there can be no doubt that it is an illness, heredity has been found to be a factor in some cases. It was thought at first that these children had some form of brain damage, but the most recent study indicates that it is instead a delay in the physiological development of the brain.

The cause is still unknown but a hopeful aspect of the situation is that the child usually outgrows his hyperactivity between the ages of 10 and 12. One surprising discovery is that depressant drugs given to quiet these children aggravate their condition while stimulating drugs bring about a prompt improvement in behavior and school accomplishment. These children never become studious types, but they settle down into a more nearly normal behavior pattern.

Q—My son's tonsils were removed when he was 5. He is now 14 and they have grown back again. My doctor advises radium treatments to shrink them. He said it would be harmful to remove the tonsils at his age. What do you think?

A—Age in itself is no reason for not removing tonsils that have become so large that they interfere with swallowing. A new method of treating them that is gaining in favor is cryosurgery or rapid freezing.

Indians Hope Trades Will Be Fruitful

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians hope a couple of trades and a new brand of golf ball justice can snap them out of the second division. But it's a long shot.

The Indians have a new manager in Alvin Dark, a stark contrast to Joe Adcock, who cracked the whip.

"This man treats you like a human being," catcher Joe Azcue said of Dark, who managed Kansas City to a last-place finish in the American League last year.

"It was like a concentration camp last year," said outfielder Leon Wagner. "He would fine guys $50, $100, $150 for missing signs."

"I guess I've fined fewer players than any manager in baseball," Dark said. The biggest fine, he said, was a case of golf balls for missing curfew.

Dark buys the golf balls wholesale and gives them to players and coaches who want to play on their days off. Players who don't play golf, he said, probably would escape with a reprimand.

The Indians, who won their last pennant in 1954, slipped to eighth last season, 17 games behind Boston.

Dark refuses to speculate on the Indians' chances this early in the spring.

"I've got to see the pitchers in at least five outings and it's too early to tell about the young players," he said. "I'm still finding out what kind of material we have."

The biggest of many problems is second base. The position is up for grabs between Vern Fuller, who hit .233 last season, Pedro Gonzalez, .228, Chico Salmon, .227, and Chuck Hinton, .245. Fuller and Gonzalez played 64 games each last season.

Azcue, .256, and Duke Sims, .202, will share the catching duties. Ken Suarez, who hit .238 in 39 games for Kansas City, may make it as a third catcher.

Tony Horton, who hit .281 after moving over from Boston, is backed up by Bill Davis at first base.

The Indians have great hopes for Davis, who missed all last season with a foot injury. In 1965 he hit 33 home runs and batted .311 at Portland, Ore. in the Pacific Coast League and in 1966 he split the season between Cleveland and Portland.

Shortstop Larry Brown is hoping to bounce back from his poor batting average, .227, in pro ball. Max Alvis, .256 with 21 homers, is a fixture at third.

The acquisition of Aose Cardenal from California and Tommy Harper from Cincinnati give the Indians plenty of speed in the outfield. Cardenal hit .236 for the Angels and Harper slumped to .225 for the Reds.

Other outfield veterans are Vic Davalillo, .287, Wagner, .242 with 15 homers, and Lee Maye, .259 with nine homers.

Rich Scheinblum, a rookie who hit .291 with 16 homers for Portland, and Jose Vidal, up for his third chance with Cleveland, are hopeful of sticking.

Pitchers Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and Steve Hargan give the Indians an excellent starting four. The team still hopes for greatness from the fireballing McDowell, who was 13-15 with a 3.85 earned run average last year.

Tiant was 12-9 and Siebert was 10-12. Hargan pitched well enough early last season to make the All-Star team and finished 14-13.

Best of the young hurlers in spring training has been Tom Gramly, 22, who was 14-9 at Portland.

CHAMPS—Coach John Wooden (upper right) is in the process of defending his NCAA basketball crown and two reasons he may succeed are Mike Warren (left) and Leon Alcindor (lower right). Warren, 5-11 senior guard, is team captain and playmaker. Alcindor, 7-2 All-American center, led UCLA to 25 wins in 26 regular season games with outstanding shooting, rebounding and defensive play.

Scouting Report: HOUSTON-UCLA

BIG E VS. BIG LEW

Hayes is third highest collegiate scorer with 37-point average, while Alcindor is 12th with 26 points per game. However, Lew leads Elvin in field goal accuracy, 60 to 57 per cent. Hayes is averaging 19 rebounds a game to Alcindor's 16.

OFFENSE-DEFENSE

Cougars and Bruins are one-two in team offense, Houston averaging 99 points a game and UCLA, 96. Both clubs are hitting close to 50 per cent of field goal attempts. Neither team is among top 20 defensively but Houston is nation's top rebounding club, while UCLA is not among top 10 in that department. Cougars give up average of 71 points per game; Bruins, about 68.

SUMMATION

Both teams have accrued ample tournament experience, the Bruins winning the NCAA title last season, after beating the Cougars in the semis. Both clubs had relatively easy schedules. None of their opponents were rated in the final top 10 wire service polls. The Cougars will try to get the ball to Hayes underneath if Alcindor isn't guarding him. If he is, Elvin will shoot from outside. If Bruins can't get ball to Alcindor, they will count on Warren and Allen for outside shooting and driving layups. Houston will miss playmaker George Reynolds, who is ineligible for playoffs. He led team in assists during regular season. The Bruins also have the advantage of playing in Los Angeles. Forecast: UCLA in overtime.

CHALLENGERS—Coach of the Year Guy Lewis (upper left) sends his Cougars against the Bruins in rematch of the two top-ranked clubs. Two seniors he's counting heavily on are 6-5 guard Don Chaney (right) and 6-8 All-American forward Elvin Hayes (lower left). Chaney and Hayes, who can score from anywhere on the court, led Houston to an undefeated season.

All Teams in SWC Meet Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two quadrangular outdoor meets bring all eight Southwest Conference track teams into action Saturday.

Highlight of the action will center on Houston, where Rice, defending conference champion, undefeated Texas, Baylor and Arkansas get together.

The other meet will be at College Station with Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas Tech and Texas A&M competing.

Baylor is the host to the Aggies and Abilene Christian in a triangular meet Tuesday.

Texas, SMU and Rice won triangular affairs last Saturday. It was the Longhorns' fourth consecutive victory of the season.

The were first in eight events, finishing one-two-three in the half-mile and one-two in the mile. David Matina turned in a career best of 1:50.7 in winning the 800 and sophomore Freddie Cooper captured the mile in 4:09.4.

Baylor's Stan Curry set a school record of 6-foot-10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in the high jump. His winning leap was only one-half inch below the conference record. Texas freshman Dave Morton and Conley Brown of Rice each ran the 440-yard dash in 46.8, four-tenths of a second off the conference mark.

Rice beat Louisiana State and Texas A&M in a triangular at Baton Rouge, La. The Owls scored 67 points. LSU had 57 and the Aggies 46.

Steve Montoya of Rice, defending champion in the three-mile, ran his event in 14:39.6, seven seconds slower than his winning time in the conference meet last year.

SMU and TCU each won seven events but the Mustangs had greater depth as they beat the Horned Frogs and Arkansas at Fort Worth. SMU compiled 73 points to TCU's 53 and Arkansas' 44.

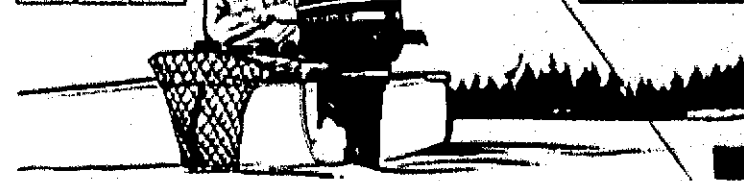

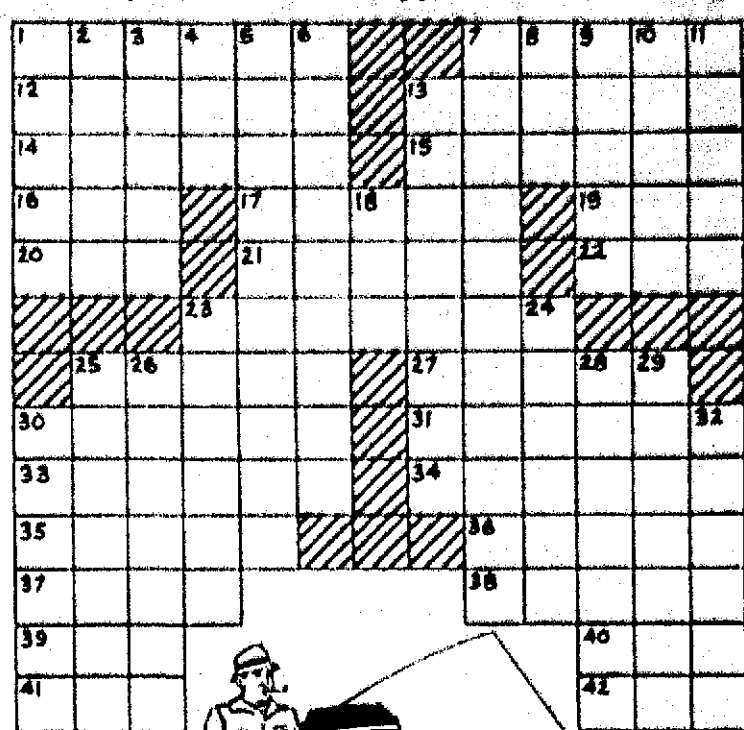

Jerry Urecht of SMU won the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.4 and the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in 32.9. It was his third double triumph in as many outings.

TCU's Bubba Thornton took the 100-yard dash in 9.7 and the 220 in 21.7.

East Michigan Wins Title

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — Eastern Michigan has won the NAAU Swimming Championship with a total of 326 points. The three-day meet ended Saturday.

Political Split Among Students

NEW YORK (AP) — The entry of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy into the presidential race apparently would produce a deep split among college students across the United States, an Associated Press survey showed today.

"I think Bobby Kennedy is playing it very safe and is stabbing Gene McCarthy right in the back," said Pamela Dwyer of Edison, N.J., a 21-year-old senior at Smith College and editor of the student newspaper.

"I think the students will follow a dove and a dynamic one like Kennedy, rather than the college professor type like Mc-Carthy," said Jim Huegill, vice president of the student body at Oregon State University.

Of the students questioned,
those who clearly favored Sen.
Eugene J. McCarthy outnumbered the Kennedy backers about 2-to-1.

But underlying the division, there were many others who said they favored McCarthy—but would switch to Kennedy because they feel he would have a better chance of defeating President Johnson.

"I've been for McCarthy but I will switch to Kennedy because the primary thing in this election is to defeat Lyndon Johnson," said David Shulte of Livingston, N.J., 21-year-old president of the senior honor society at Williams College.

"If it takes Kennedy and his political pull to do it," he said,
"then that's what it takes."

"Ideally, I favor Mc-Carthy over Kennedy," said Walt Murray, former editor of the student newspaper at California State College at Long Beach, "but it's quite obvious that Kennedy can defeat Johnson (in the California primary), whereas McCarthy cannot."

A strain of anger also runs through the answers. The word
"opportunist" was applied to Kennedy repeatedly.

Oswald: "How about a few columns on trump management?"

Jim: "Let's start with the first rule, which is that you want to pull the adverse trumps as soon as you can afford to do so."

Oswald: "Once you can afford to pull trumps your problem is to find the best way to go about pulling them."

Jim: "South is mighty happy about his six spade contract. He ruffs the second diamond and, if he is the average bridge player, goes after the spade suit without any thought at all. If he starts by playing his ace of spades he makes his slam;
if he starts by leading a low spade to dummy's king he goes down one and complains about bad luck."

Oswald: "It is unnecessary bad luck. A good player should play the trumps correctly on this occasion."

Jim: "He certainly should.
Let's go over the process of reasoning that South should use. To start with he should use the first two letters of the code word ARCH. Analyze the lead and Review the bidding.
The analysis of the lead will show him that West started with both ace and king of diamonds. This would mean that East has little or nothing in the way of high cards."

Oswald: "Review of the bidding will show that East jumped to five diamonds. Obviously this was a barricade call, in the hope of jamming the bidding. East would be most unlikely to do that with three spades to the queen
among his securities."

Jim: "Further Review would show him that West had pushed him into the slam.
West would not have done this without a possible trick outside the diamond suit. Three spades to the queen would be a very possible trick. Hence, if either opponent held all three spades it would be West and South should play his ace of spades and guard against that possibility."

What do you do now?
A—Bid four spades. If your partner is likely to make very weak overcalls you might content yourself with a jump to three spades only. The jump raise of an overcall is not a forcing bid but is very invitational.

ate last week your editor received a signed note from a Rocky Mound housewife: "We have a campaign going at Rocky Mound against trash. We are hoping you will help us with an editorial. Please call attached number for further information."

I did more than that. Sunday I drove out and talked to folks in Rocky Mound, then made the circle drive and took the photograph which appears on this page today. All the trash I saw was unsightly scrap paper, but it was enough to anger residents of a community noted for its trim homes and well-kept lawns.

The fact that it was paper, and on the most direct route to the municipal dump-grounds, makes me suspect it wasn't private citizens who dumped the trash. Probably there wasn't any intentional "dumping."

It looked to the writer as though city garbage crews may have neglected to cover a truck with a tarpaulin and the wind blew off the top layer of scrap.

I suggest the City of Hope look into this, and if we're at fault then the city should furnish a cleanup crew to pick up the pieces.

And if the city crews are not to blame then the county and state should set up a dog-watch and catch the offenders. All citizens know there are stiff penalties for dumping refuse on a public road—and this applies to all roads.

Hope, whose aspirations for a giant paper mill at McNab in another couple of years were jolted by the Internal Revenue Service's decision last week to kill the tax-deductibility of industrial development bonds effective March 15, got some help Sunday from an editorial in the Arkansas Democrat.

Under the title "The Tax Exemption Helped", the Democrat took the same view as The Star—that any tax device which has brought 227 plants to Arkansas is worth while.

We are therefore backing the state-wide protest to Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, asking that legislation be put through to override the IRS's arbitrary and unfair action.

The issue is not entirely between competing states fighting for new industry—rather it's a question of equal justice between two counties in the same state.

Little River county was able to get the $50-million Nekoosa-Edwards paper mill for Ashdown because Little River county was permitted to issue tax-exempt industrial bonds.

But Hempstead county, with a chance to get a $100-million U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers mill at McNab possibly by 1970, will be denied such bond privilege—and perhaps lose the mill—if the IRS revocation of the tax exemption is permitted to stand.

Arkansas Democrat's friendly editorial is in sharp contrast to the Ivory-tower thinking of the Arkansas Gazette, which, as usual, takes the bureaucrats' side on this issue.

Lot of Books Were Returned

CHICAGO (AP) — When overdue books were accepted at the public library without fines Jan. 2, nearly 105,000 books—many of them valuable or out of print—were returned. Library officials were jubilant.

Now they fear the amnesty may have backfired. There has been a sharp decrease in the collection of fines on overdue books since.

Bishop May Be a Candidate

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An Episcopal bishop says members of the clergy should run for political office. The Rt. Rev. C. Edward Crowther, affiliated with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, said Sunday he might "seriously consider heeding my own advice."

"I don't recall any bishops running for Congress in the history of the United States, but I believe the church is moving in the direction of a tremendous social involvement, which makes this next step a logical one," he said.

Kennedy, LBJ Swap Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Johnson administration have exchanged politically explosive charges over the New Yorker's proposal to stay out of the presidential race if U.S. policy in Vietnam were revised.

Kennedy acknowledged Sunday he proposed the commission, but called published reports on it distorted and blamed that on White House leaks to news media.

Charged Kennedy, who entered the race for the Democratic presidential nomination on Saturday:

"This incident reveals in the sharpest possible terms why the American people no longer believe the President and the White House; why the credibility of our political leadership has been so critically eroded and why it is clear that the only way we are going to change our policy in Vietnam is to change administrations in Washington."

In a 1,500-word statement, Kennedy said he told Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford last Thursday that his candidacy wouldn't be necessary if Johnson accepted the commis-

Questions, Answers on How Two-Priced Gold System Will Work

By GEORGE TAYLOR
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Seven of the leading Western industrialized nations approved Sunday in Washington a two-price system for gold.

What is the system? How will it work? Will it stop the U.S. loss of gold?

Here are some of the questions and answers about the system:

Q—What is the two-price system for gold?

A—It means a price of $35 an ounce would be maintained in transactions between central banks of different countries, such as the Federal Reserve Bank in the United States and the Bank of England. Prices in a private market would be determined by demand and supply, estimated at around $40 to $45 an ounce.

Q—Why was a two-price system set up?

A—It was designed to stop the wild speculative buying of gold bullion at $35 an ounce which swamped the London gold market. The buying severely

Answering complaints from residents along the road from Hope to Rocky Mound that trash is being dumped on the right-of-way The Star made this photograph Sunday afternoon.

This particular scene is on the gravel stretch leading from the left fork where the road splits to make a circle drive to Rocky Mound and return. The photographer found other trash between the fork and Hope, indicating that the nuisance has developed along the shortest route to the municipal dump-yard beyond Rocky Mound.

Gold Agreement Brings Relief But Measure Termed Temporary

By MICHAEL R. CODEL
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Europe greeted the Washington gold agreement with relief, but commentators and bankers termed it a temporary measure whose success would depend on cuts in American and British spending.

The agreement's basic point—the establishment of a two-price gold system—had been widely predicted in Britain and on the continent. The West German government advocated introduction of a free gold market last Friday, and Swiss bankers said they had urged the two-market system as the only way to stop the gold rush.

"Anything is better than the suspense and confusion of the last few days," said one French banker. He called it a victory for speculators and hoarders, but would not predict their reaction.

The Bank of England ordered the London bullion market to remain closed until April 1, "to give things a chance to settle down, to give people a chance to see what is going on," said a stock market spokesman. Since this is the world's chief gold market, its closure was certain to restrict trading on the continent.

Gold trading also remained suspended in Canada while the Bank of Canada and the government assessed the implications of the new system. The central bank's governor, Louis Rasminsky, pledged Canada's cooperation with the seven nations of the gold pool.

Swiss bankers met in Zurich and decided to let their big banks organize the free gold market in Switzerland. One major question still unanswered was where the free market would get its gold. Prospective sources of supply included South Africa's newly mined gold, small hoarders and speculators who stocked up during the recent rush, and some central banks which might collect gold from other banks and funnel it out the back door at a good profit.

South Africa's finance minister, Nicholas Diederichs, said that his government would study the situation "in all its aspects."

Swiss sources said much of the 300 tons of gold sold last Thursday and Friday in Zurich probably would never be delivered as a result of the Washington agreement. It had been sold on condition that the international gold pool would continue to deliver, and the weekend drained the gold reserves of the seven nations which make up the London gold pool. Speculators were buying the gold for $35 on the assumption it would increase in price. Now gold on the free market will sell at whatever price people are willing to pay—without affecting the price of gold used for settling transactions among nations.

Q—What was the old price system?

A—The United States and seven other Western nations—including France which withdrew—formed the London gold pool to stabilize the price of gold at $35 an ounce. This is the price at which the United States, since 1934, has said it will pay in gold for other countries' dollars.

Q—When was the gold pool formed?

A—The pool came into being in 1961 to stabilize the price of gold after the price in the London market soared to more than $40 an ounce.

Q—Why didn't the old price

Air Losses in Vietnam Mounting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. loss of planes and helicopters in the Vietnam war now exceeds its aircraft losses in Korea—but still is far below the World War II toll.

Pentagon figures show a total of 3,487 U.S. helicopters and fixed-wing planes have been destroyed in Vietnam.

In the Korean War, the total was 3,001, virtually all airplanes since helicopters were used in that war to a relatively insignificant degree.

The United States recorded 27,137 aircraft losses to enemy action in World War II. Figures were not available, but losses as a result of accidents and other noncombat causes probably ran into many thousands.

The total for fixed wing aircraft lost in the Vietnam war reached 2,007 last week. The number of helicopters destroyed in both combat and noncombat operations came to 1,480.

The Pentagon would not give a breakdown on aircraft losses by types, saying this is security material of value to the enemy.

Pentagon spokesmen said total costs of aircraft losses in the three wars are not available. But competent sources have said $4 billion probably would not be far off as the cost for Vietnam air losses.

The prices paid for individual airplanes indicate how costs have escalated since World War II.

For example, a B17 heavy bomber of World War II cost nearly $190,000—about $80,000 less than the price of an Army helicopter being used in the Vietnam war.

A B29, classed as a "very heavy bomber" in one World War II document, cost about $635,000—only a fraction of the $8 million price for a B52 of this era.

Johnson Is Expected to Send 35,000 More Troops to Vietnam War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to increase U.S. troop strength in Vietnam by at least one more division—or about 35,000 more men.

Sources said the President has decided on a "moderate increase" in U.S. military manpower in response to an appeal by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam, to raise the 525,000-man ceiling previously set.

Westmoreland was reported to have requested up to 206,000 more men after the massive Communist Tet offensive which began at the end of January.

The Johnson administration has claimed the Viet Cong forces suffered a major military setback in the resulting fighting.

But U.S. officials acknowledge the Viet Cong offensive threw U.S. and allied operations off balance and pinned down major combat forces to defensive positions in South Vietnam's bigger cities and towns.

Last week, Westmoreland launched the first major allied offensive since the Viet Cong mass attacks, with American forces sweeping out from Saigon.

Johnson's purpose in sending more troops, it is understood, is to give U.S. and allied forces a greater capacity to carry on offensive operations. Even so, large numbers of troops will remain tied down to defensive duties in the cities and in South Vietnam's northern provinces.

GOLD CRISIS

A dual gold pricing system goes into effect today as the gold pool governments agree to stop feeding gold from their treasuries into the fevered speculative markets. Support of the dollar is pledged.

What is the new two-price gold system? Will it stop the U.S. gold drain? Economists provide some of the answers.

John Cunliff, Business Mirror: The gold pool nations improve immediate protection of the dollar, but many changes are needed to establish a long-range defense.

About $1 billion in gold lies untapped under the mountains of Colorado, a mining official says.

Allies Claim 800 Killed in Big Sweep

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese rangers fought off another attack on Khe Sanh today and allied troops sweeping around Saigon claimed an enemy death toll exceeding 800 in the first week of their big drive.

About 600 North Vietnamese soldiers charged from their trenches, some as close as 20 yards from the outer barbed wire, in their second attack this month on the South Vietnamese position at Khe Sanh.

A sheet of machine-gun fire from the rangers' trenches and U.S. Marine mortars drove the enemy away after about an hour. There was no report of casualties on either side, but the North Vietnamese could be seen dragging away dead and wounded men.

U.S. spokesmen said the attack was a "strong probe" against the northwest frontier combat base, where the 400 rangers and some 6,000 U.S. Marines have been braced for several months for a major assault by an estimated 40,000 enemy troops around the fortress.

Enemy gunners fired about 500 shells at the Khe Sanh base Sunday, the heaviest barrage in more than a week. U.S. B52 bombers flew three raids against enemy positions.

In the 50,000-man operation, Quyet Thang-Resolve To Win—around Saigon, South Vietnamese infantrymen came under fire from guerrillas dug in at the village of Tram Lak, 17 miles northwest of Saigon.

Associated Press photographer Al Chang, with the troops, said the infantrymen held their line while two tanks and 20 armored personnel carriers of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry moved up and began blasting the enemy positions from within 50 yards.

Air strikes also were called in. At dusk, the allied troops secured the area and reported 84 guerrillas killed but only one American and one South Vietnamese wounded.

After two earlier battles Sunday, the U.S. Command had reported an enemy toll of 730 dead in the allied offensive that began last Monday in five provinces north, west and south of Saigon. U.S. losses so far were put at 30 killed and 249 wounded. Government casualties were reported light.

In the earlier clashes, government troops said they killed 55 Viet Cong about 20 miles west of the capital and infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division reported killing 25 more enemy soldiers 40 miles farther west.

The U.S. Command also reported that about 300 U.S. Marines on a sweep near the eastern end of the demilitarized zone killed 83 enemy troops Saturday, with two Americans killed and 26 wounded.

The Marines pounced on a North Vietnamese battalion of about 400 men two miles west of the U.S. artillery base at Gio Linh.

Condemnation Suit Reversed by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today reversed a Faulkner Circuit Court award of $41,500 to William J. Dean in a land condemnation suit for right of way for Interstate 40.

The high court sent the case back to Circuit Judge Russell Roberts for a new trial after ruling that the lower court erred in refusing to instruct the jury on minimization of damages as requested in some instructions.

The state Highway Commission had condemned about 11 acres of Dean's property.

Says Wounds Heal After Nomination

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says it's a "modern medical miracle" the way Democrats heal their wounds after national conventions—and latest explosive developments indicate that's why they may need in 1968.

As Humphrey spoke optimistically of his party's powers of rejuvenation Sunday, its presidential contest was embroiled in these developments:

—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and President Johnson aides traded charges over Kennedy's reported offer not to run for president if Johnson appointed a blue-ribbon commission to revise Vietnam war policy.

A high administration source called Kennedy's proposal an ultimatum and said Johnson spurned it as a political deal. Kennedy said the White House widened its credibility gap by distorting the proposal.

—Kennedy said he would have "grave reservations" about supporting Johnson for re-election if Johnson gets the nomination and "if we are going to follow the same policies we are following at the moment."

—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also an anti-Johnson candidate, rejected Kennedy's offer to aid his Wisconsin primary campaign and said of Kennedy: "I don't altogether approve of what he's done in the past three or four days."

—McCarthy rejected flatly the idea of becoming Kennedy's vice presidential running mate. "I think that's beyond imagination," he said.

But Humphrey announced he will personally campaign for Johnson in state primaries, said the Democratic convention will nominate Johnson for re-election—and predicted both Kennedy and McCarthy would support the President.

"My, how wounds do heal right after conventions," Humphrey said.

The vice president appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Kennedy on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Mc-

Carthy on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Kennedy was asked what he would do about the Vietnam war and he replied: "I would begin a de-escalation of the effort."

A congressman's poll, meanwhile, showed McCarthy favored over Johnson in Wisconsin where the nation's second primary comes April 2.

McCarthy got 48.6 per cent and Johnson 34.7 per cent of the sampling by Rep. Robert W. Kasfenmeier, D-Wis., in his district dominated by Madison, the state capital. The poll was taken before Kennedy announced his candidacy Saturday and he got a 6 per cent write-in.

On the Republican side, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller promised his "most earnest and careful consideration" of whether to declare himself an active presidential candidate next week and enter Oregon's May 28 primary.

The promise came after a Sunday meeting with Oregon backers in his New York City apartment. Rep. John Dellenback, co-chairman of the Oregon Draft Rockefeller Committee, said the governor gave no hint what his decision will be.

Dellenback also said California Gov. Ronald Reagan may be an active candidate in the Oregon primary.

"Reagan has had a staff in the field for a number of months now, setting up in Oregon," Dellenback said. "I would be very much surprised if they are doing this as an empty exercise."

7 Persons Killed by Gunman

IRONWOOD, Mich. (AP) — A seventh victim of a rifleman's two-hour shooting spree died Sunday and two persons remained in "very serious" condition.

Six persons were killed in the rampage Saturday through this western upper peninsula community.

Charged in the slayings is Eric Pearson, 56, a muscular outdoorsman described as "a skillful hunter and a loner" who worked as a janitor in a nearby ski lodge.

Pearson was scheduled to be arraigned today.

Mrs. Helen Pulsto, 47, of Ironwood, died Sunday night in Grand View Hospital.

The victims all were shot with a high-powered hunting rifle.

Goebel County Sheriff Chester J. Prebush said Pearson had been drinking heavily and was incoherent when captured by patrons of a tavern, where one man was slain and a woman wounded.

The tavern was the last stop on the rampage. Authorities said the slayer first visited a modern, one-story home about a mile away, where four persons, including a mother and her daughter were killed in the living room.

A 12-year-old girl, trying to hide in her bedroom closet, was wounded when a bullet was fired through the door. A trail of blood was left throughout the home.

The killer then went to another home, killing one man and wounding his wife. The next stop was the tavern.

"He just walked in the door and started shooting. He didn't say a word," said one customer.

Mrs. Pulsto's husband, Alex, and another patron, John Niemi, of Ironwood, lunged for the man. Pulsto went for the rifle, the customer said, while Niemi threw some punches and clubbed the man with a whisky bottle.

One of the women killed in the first home, Mrs. Sally Johnson, 61, had dated Pearson, according to Deputy Sheriff Richard Bennetts.

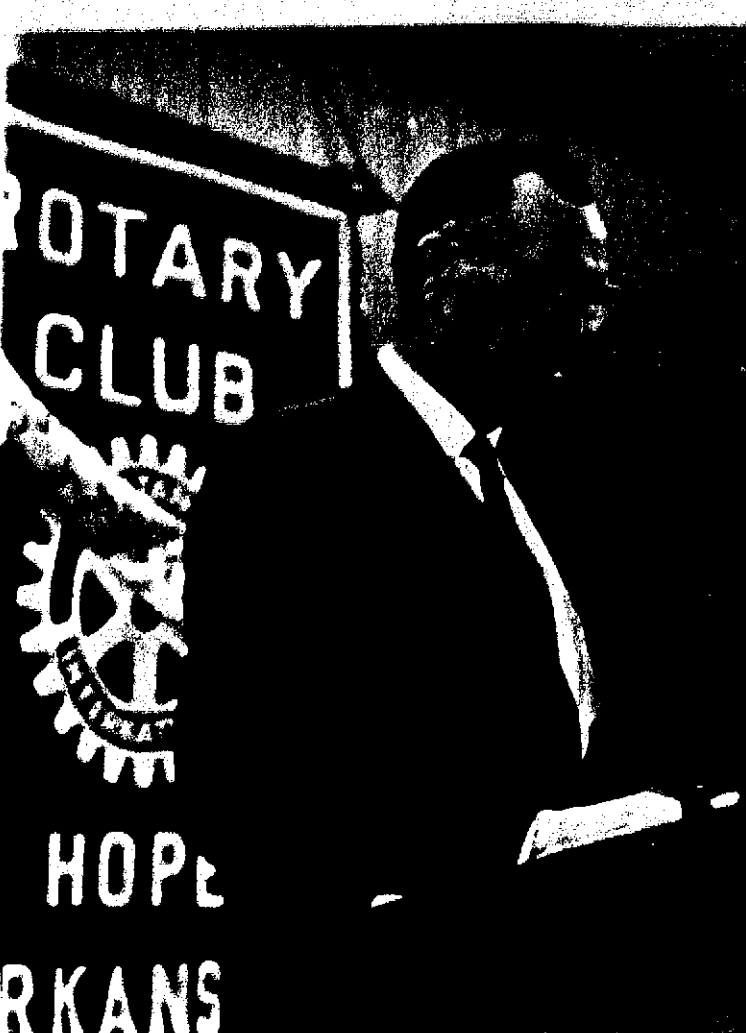

Killed with her were her daughter, Mrs. Vienna Gustafson, owner of the home, Mrs. Katherine Rigoni, 59, of Ironwood, and Daniel E. Weiss, 67, of Lansing.

Mrs. Gustafson's 12-year-old daughter, Robin, was shot in the stomach through the door of the closet where she had tried to hide.

Bennetts said the killer next went to the Raymond Hautala home, near the tavern, where he fatally shot Hautala, 49, in the chest and wounded his wife, Lempi, 61.

The deputy said Pearson, who lived alone in a cabin a few miles from Lake Superior, "used to drink, but he appeared to have cut it out in past years. He seemed to be an all right fellow."

JUDGE FINIS ODOM
The Hope Rotary Club gave unanimous acceptance to the slate of new officers which nomination committee chairman Vic Cobb presented at the club's weekly luncheon meeting last Friday at the Town and Country. Those taking office July 1 will be: president, Harold Eakley; vice-president, Benny Coleman; secretary, B. N. Holt; treasurer, Webb Laseter.

President Clyde Fouse reminded the Rotarians of the local appearance by Rubinoff April 5, and Richard Keyton announced that the U of A Concert Band would be here Tuesday, March 26 and overnight accommodations are needed for 30 students.

Judge Finis Odom had the program dealing with the county government. He told of landscaping and inside painting at the courthouse, and the maintenance of roads and bridges throughout the county. The report on the behavior of boys and girls in our area was good, and he announced that the organization of a Volunteer Rescue Unit to deal with emergencies such as natural disasters within the county was almost completed. A period of questions and answers followed the judge's talk.

Douglas Now Supporting President

By JACK MILLER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, once a liberal thorn in the side of then-Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, now provides valuable support for the President on two major battlefronts: The cities and the Vietnam war.

Still hard-working and healthy as he approaches his 76th birthday on March 26, Douglas heads the President's National Commission on Urban Problems and is founder and co-chairman of a committee of prominent Americans backing the war effort.

Douglas has led urban commission hearings in 18 cities around the country seeking ways to revitalize the depressed cities.

The commission's report isn't due until year's end. But most of Douglas' recommendations to date have followed Johnson policies. And Douglas praised the recent presidential message on the cities to Congress.

Douglas says he formed the Vietnam citizens committee without prompting from Johnson.

The one-time economics professor, who enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1943 as a 50-year-old private, drew to the new group such distinguished retired military leaders and statesmen as former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower and General of the Army Omar Bradley.

Avoiding the stance of either all-out opponents of the war or those calling for military escalation, the committee in its initial statement last Oct. 25 generally endorsed the President's war policy, saying: "We favor a sensible road between capitulation and the indiscriminate use of raw power."

Using almost the same words

Monday, March 18, 1968

as administration officials in interpreting this year's massive, coordinated Communist attacks on South Vietnamese cities, Douglas told a reporter:

"My own view is that the Communists failed in their objective in that they did not get any appreciable support from the people of the cities."

Explaining in an interview his support for the Vietnam war, the tall, plain-featured man with crew-cut white hair said, "I happen to believe in collective security. I believed in it against Hitler, Russia and Korea, and I think this (Vietnam) is part of the same family."

In the Senate, the Illinois Democrat earned the adoration of liberals for his leadership on domestic reforms.

During an 18-year Senate career that ended in 1966 when he was beaten by Republican Charles H. Percy, Douglas led the drive for much of the landmark social legislation of the last generation: Minimum wages, Medicare, federal aid to education and—especially—civil rights.

Civil rights once was a battle issue between Johnson and Douglas. As one who was close to both men recalls it, Douglas constantly refused to budge from his principles to make way for a Johnsonian consensus. Fuming, Johnson used to repeat over and over to friends that "politics is the art of the possible."

The associate recalls that "Johnson greatly disliked Douglas, and Douglas had no great affection for Johnson."

There is no indication today that the relationship—despite Douglas' support of key Johnson policies—has flowered into friendship.

Douglas said his current activities haven't drawn any words of gratitude from Johnson. And while Douglas occasionally attends a White House function, he said he has purposely avoided personal contact with the President to avoid implications the citizens group stand on Vietnam is influenced by Johnson.

Ad Agency Defends Right to State Fee

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Thomas C. Hockersmith, president of a Little Rock advertising firm, said Sunday that if a fee he received from the construction firm that built Arkansas' pavilion at HemisFair '68 was a conflict of interest "then every agency in the nation is in conflict, because this is exactly the way its handled everywhere."

Hockersmith's firm is to receive $13,500 from Arthur Pugh and Associates of Houston, the firm which constructed the pavilion.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Saturday that Hockersmith's fee "on the surface . . . looks to me like an inappropriate conflict of interest."

"I wonder if Gov. Rockefeller realizes he was paying 15 per cent to his advertising agencies during the 1966 political campaigns?" Hockersmith asked. "Obviously the governor's insinuations are politically motivated, and I resent them."

"The whole thing just looks like a witch hunt to me," Hockersmith said.

Hockersmith handled former Gov. Orval Faubus' political advertising during four of his campaigns, and the two other members of the Hockersmith firm, Ed Dozier and Paul Thomas, were associated with another er advertising agency in 1966 when it handled the advertising for Jim Johnson in his unsuccessful race against Rockefeller.

Hockersmith said he felt that he was being caught between Rockefeller's "political machinations" and attempts by Pugh to make his agency the "scapegoat for a poor job."

Orville Richolson of Newport, one of Rockefeller's appointees on the state Publicity and Parks Commission, questioned Hockersmith's fee at a commission meeting Saturday. Richolson's remarks followed a statement by a group of Little Rock businessmen that the pavilion was a "shame" to the state.

"The only issue here is whether the exhibit measures up to the specifications in the contract Arthur Pugh has with the Publicity and Parks Commission," Hockersmith said. "If it doesn't, he is liable and responsible to the commission."

Hockersmith said his firm designed the pavilion and made a mockup of the bas relief map of Arkansas that it features but added that his agency had nothing to do with the construction.

He said there were no complaints when the plan was presented to the commission.

"If Mr. Pugh was unable to achieve the level of quality we specified, the fault is his," Hockersmith said.

Richolson pointed out at the commission meeting that the Hockersmith agency had signed its contract with Pugh a week before the commission signed its contract with the Houston firm.

"I in no way tried to sell the services of Mr. Pugh to the commission and didn't appear before them to do so in any form or fashion," Hockersmith said.

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — What happens when you're scheduled to be principal speaker at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick's dinner and you forget your formal attire?

If you're vice president of the United States, you send your jetliner back to Washington to get it.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Scranton Sunday night without a tuxedo. The discovery was made shortly after the $3 million jet landed at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre airport at 5:05 p.m.

The Lockheed Jetstar went back to Washington National Airport and returned at 7:42 p.m. A state police car transported the formal wear to the vice president waiting at a Scranton hotel.

State Pavilion at HemisFair Criticized

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—W. P. Gulley, president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that the Little Rock businessmen who toured Arkansas' pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, Tex., were "appalled" by furnishings in the pavilion's lounge.

Gulley told the state Publicity and Parks Commission that the pavilion is "not the type of thing that would heighten anyone's impression of Arkansas." Joseph B. Hurst, a member of the Little Rock City Manager Board, said the entire interior of the pavilion should be "jerked out" and that its primary feature, a map of the state in bas relief, "would not be worth carting out the door, much less bringing to the state."

The amp was to have been placed in the rotunda at the state Capitol after the fair. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller viewed the exhibit Saturday and said "Nobody in his right mind would put it in the rotunda" as it is.

The revelation that Hockersmith, Dozier and Thomas, the Little Rock advertising agency that designed and coordinated the project, had received a 15 per cent commission on the cost of constructing the project, caused a furor at the commission's meeting.

William G. Conley, Rockefeller's press secretary, told the commission that Arthur Pugh and Associates of Houston, the contractor for the exhibit, informed him that the only things the Hockersmith firm had provided were three color photographs of the proposed Little Rock municipal air terminal.

"Our contribution has been the entire concept—the original concept—with mockup of the map, and the concept of returning the entire map for placement in the rotunda of the Capitol for use for years to come," said Thomas C. Hockersmith, president of the firm.

The pavilion cost $150,000 but the construction cost was only $90,000. Hockersmith's firm is to get $13,500.

The Hockersmith firm is not mentioned in the commission's contract with Pugh. However, a hand-written contract between the agency and Pugh provides for payment of the 15 per cent commission.

The commission's contract is dated Nov. 2, 1967. Pugh's contract with Hockersmith is dated Oct. 25, 1967.

A commission of 15 per cent of the gross amount spent is standard in such arrangements according to Hockersmith.

"Any implication that there was something underhanded about the contract between the agency and Arthur Pugh is wrong," Hockersmith said. "I in no way tried to sell the services of Mr. Pugh to the commission and didn't appear before them to do so in any form or fashion."

He said the contract was written by Pugh. He also said that Bob Evans, Publicity and Parks director, were aware of the contract as was Commission Chairman L. C. Dial of Brinkley.

Evans said he knew nothing about the contract.

Conley said Pugh resented the contract. He said Pugh told him there were circumstances in which an advertising agency might be retained in such a project, that normally its fee would not exceed 15 per cent.

Hockersmith said 15 per cent was the standard agency fee.

Rockefeller said he didn't see anything wrong with the pavilion that couldn't be fixed in a week or 10 days with "competent leadership."

Napoleon's son, the Duke of Reichstadt, died at the age of 21.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper. IS IT A DEAL?

Dear Helen: I have a husband and two lovely, wonderful daughters.

Lately my husband doesn't stay home or take us anywhere. I found a picture of him and a young girl in his coat pocket. He said she is the daughter of a guy he fishes with. But he hardly ever brings home any fish.

I asked him to introduce me to the girl and her family and he said I'd only make trouble; that there's nothing to it and he loves only me.

This is the first time I've suspected he had anything going should I give him another chance?—MISERABLE

Dear Mrs. Now really—would a fisherman with this kind of catch keep the evidence where you could find it?

Make a deal: if he'll give his family equal time, you'll forget the picture and prove he has a good thing going—at home. Work on that proof, and you won't need to worry about lonely weekends.—H.

NOTE TO READERS: So often suspicious wives begin their letters: "I have a husband and two wonderful children..." Perhaps they'd have less cause for doubt if through the years they had switched one word around—"I have a WONDERFUL husband and two children..." When a man plays third fiddle at home, he's ripe for beautiful music elsewhere.—H.

Dear Helen: My daughter, 13, is dating a man 10 years her senior. He bosses and browbeats her. The other day she was ill and broke a date with him. Quite typically, he upbraided her until she cried. Her temperature was 103 and the doctor had ordered her to bed.

What really floored me was that he told me last night he was going to beat my daughter for being moody and quite. She is quite because he cuts her ant things. But after all, that's down.

In spite of this, he has set the date for their wedding in six months. If I say what a stinker he is, she resents it. I can't keep still when I see the misery in store for her. They have been dating three months.

Why can't she see what is so plain to everybody else?—NONE SO BLIND

Dear Helen: She'll see, when "everyone else"—meaning you—knocks off the doom-and-gloom chant.

A girl doesn't enjoy being told she has made a stupid mistake. Keep quiet, stay neutral—even take his side against her—and I'll bet she'll soon be telling you how wrong you are.

Sometimes the best way to fight a stinker is—pretend you've joined him.—H.

Dear Helen: This is the first time I've written to a columnist, but I must warn the girl who thinks true love will change a hood. At 18, I fell in love with a handsome man of 26. He was my dream come true, for I hadn't dated much before. He also had a few pregnant girls around, but I was not that kind and I knew he'd reform me because he respected me for it.

My dream man had a "small" prison record for car theft, transporting girls across the state lines, breaking and entering—a few minor, unimportant was in the past! Everyone should have a second chance. My parents fought against him, but I swore they were wrong, and proved it by marrying him. Four months after the wedding, he was in prison for armed robbery, car theft and, of course, breaking his parole. He hadn't told me he was out on parole. I was pregnant. I still loved him, and stick by him, visiting at the prison regularly and writing every day. He quit writing, refused my visits, and told me to get lost, as he knew I was going out on him, which I wasn't.

Finally, after a nervous breakdown, I got a divorce. Now, at age 26, I have found a wonderful, loving man who has adopted my son. Thank goodness I was lucky enough to get a second chance. But think of the heartache I would have saved if I had seen him as he really was and not as I wanted him to be.—V.H.H.

1. The rate of exchange between dollars and other currencies will stay put. Those American travelers who suddenly could not spend dollar bills or cash travelers checks overseas should have no more trouble.
2. The pound sterling has been bolstered further. The six other countries which have supplied gold to the London pool are increasing to $4 billion the total of currency credits available to hard-pressed Britain. Their previous commitments were not disclosed, but the increase is known to be substantial.
3. On the home front, jewelers and other licensed users of gold can no longer buy from the Treasury. The Treasury will continue to issue licenses to legitimate users, however, and the holders can buy on the free market here or overseas.

None of the governments, the seven bank governors said, will henceforth sell to private buyers or buy from private sellers. They seemed confident the rule would be followed by all free world governments, not just the seven signers.

Speculators and legitimate users alike thus will have to buy from those who mine the metal—in South Africa, the Soviet Union or Canada—or those who may be ready to sell from private hoards.

The question that hung heavily over the two-day conference in Washington's marble Federal Reserve Board building—and still remains unanswered—is whether the $35 official price can stand up if the free price is much higher.

Not even Washington expects the plan to endure unless solid measures are taken to repair confidence in the dollar abroad. The Federal Reserve moved Thursday to tighten credit.

President Johnson gave further assurances Saturday. He will accept a multi-billion dollar spending cut in his fiscal 1969 budget, he said, to insure the enactment by Congress of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal. There are strong indications that resistance in Congress is melting.

opposite large North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces near Khe Sanh and Hue.

Although Johnson is reported not to have reached a firm commitment on numbers, 35,000—a division plus supporting units—was the total being mentioned by Washington sources.

They said any boost was likely to be spread out over several months.

The administration also is reported to have agreed to speed up its plans to furnish South Vietnamese forces with modern light weapons.

Officials have said South Vietnamese provincial and local troops were outgunned during the Tet offensive by Viet Cong units armed with large numbers of Soviet-designed automatic rifles.

Rep. Paul Findley R-Ill., announced meanwhile that 137 House members have joined as co-sponsors of his resolution calling for an immediate congressional review of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Findley said in a statement backers of the resolution comprise 32 per cent of all House members and include 96 fellow Republicans and 40 Democrats.

Rush Work At HemisFair

At HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, Texas, workmen are rushing to complete the Tower of the Americas World's Fair opening on April 6. From the 605-foot level, architect's secretary Carol Lee Hindt uses a new 3M Casual Compact copier to provide a change order for construction worker Jerry Zizelman. Tower is 750 feet from ground to mast top, with a revolving restaurant and observation deck.

Orange Meet Won by Kathy Whitworth

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth dropped a bridge putt on the 18th hole Sunday and captured the Orange Blossom Women's Golf Open title. It was the first event of the 1968 ladies PGA tour.

The 20-foot final bridge came after a neck-and-neck stretch drive with Sandra Haynie and Judy Kimball, who tied for second.

The winner's purse was $1,375 and Miss Haynie and Miss Kimball earned $1,350 each.

Strampe Wins Tournament at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Bob Strampe has won the $45,000 Greater Buffalo Professional Bowlers Association Open Tournament, defeating Teata Semiz, of River Edge, N.J., 246-201.

Strampe, of Warren, Mich., topped Semiz Saturday after downing Therm Davis of Chicago, 224-172 and defending champion Nelson Burton Jr., of St. Louis, 249-204 in the nationally televised competition.

For his victory, Strampe picked up a winner's check for $6,000. Semiz won $3,000, Burton $2,000, Davis $1,800 and McMillin $1,600.

Claims to Be Best in the Nation

KANSAS CITY (AP) — NAIA champion Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio, can lay claim to being the top small college basketball team in the nation.

The Marauders won the oldest and largest of the national tournaments — 32 teams — by edging Fairmont, W. Va., State 51-48, ending a gruelling five-game, six-day battle Sunday night.

In a regular season game, Central defeated Kentucky Wesleyan, the school that won the NCAA small college crown Friday night.

slon proposal. Kennedy put it this way: "I made it clear that if it (the commission) were more than a public relations gimmick, if both the President's announcement of the commission and its membership signalled a clear-cut willingness to seek a wider path to peace in Vietnam, then my declaration of candidacy would no longer be necessary."

But the administration source said Kennedy demanded that any statement announcing the commission indicate that Johnson had "grave doubt of the wisdom of his past course and that was why this reappraisal was necessary."

The source said Kennedy wanted to be on the commission and presented to Clifford a list of other possible members.

Johnson immediately rejected the proposal, the source said, on grounds it smacked of a political deal, cast doubt on his Vietnam policies, might encourage North Vietnam to think U.S. resolve was weakening and furthermore represented an attempt to usurp presidential authority.

Newsweek magazine quoted a White House aide as calling the proposal "the damndest piece of political blackmail" he had ever heard of.

Kennedy, saying he was surprised that "the traditional rules of confidence governing White House conversations are no longer respected by the White House itself," charged published versions of the affair "fall so short of the truth that I believe the American people are entitled to the facts."

Kennedy said Johnson had first appeared interested in the proposal but later rejected it, in part—said the senator—because he didn't want Kennedy on the commission.

Kennedy said subsequent talks between the White House and Theodore Sorensen, the former aide to President John F. Kennedy who presented the proposal to Johnson, made it clear that:

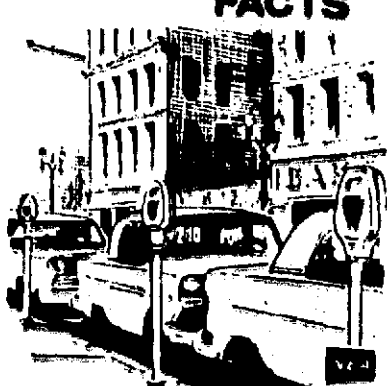

"... So long as Lyndon B. Johnson was President our Vietnam policy would consist of only more war, more troops, more killing and more senseless destruction of the country we were supposedly there to save."

"That night I decided to run for president."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Automatic parking meters began sprouting on the sidewalks of America on July 16, 1935, when Oklahoma City recognized the genius of inventor Carlton Magee and purchased a number of his Park-O-Meters. The World Almanac says. Today, untold millions of coins later, the ubiquitous parking meter rations time and curb space from coast to coast, with 60,000 in New York City alone.

A—In times of uncertainty about paper currencies hoarders and speculators would cash in their paper money for gold. This created a drain on the reserves of the London gold pool nations, especially the United States which supplied 59 per cent of the gold.

Q—Does the two-price system solve the U.S. gold problem?

A—Economists say it stops the loss of gold immediately but the underlying problem—the balance of payments deficit—remains. Steps such as a tax increase and spending cuts must be taken to reduce the deficit, according to economists.

Q—What are the seven nations which agreed to this two-price system?

A—In addition to the United States, they are Belgium, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and Britain.

Q—How much gold do the seven nations have?

A—About $26 billion.

Q—Will these seven nations now supply gold to any market?

A—In their Sunday communiqué, the central banks said they "decided no longer to supply gold to the London gold market or any other gold market." They said they felt the existing stock of monetary gold—gold held in governmental res-serves—is "sufficient."

Q—What would prevent the central banks from acquiring gold at $35 an ounce and reselling it for a profit at a higher price in the private market?

A—The seven nations agreed that they would not sell gold to other countries to replace gold sold in the private market. The seven also agreed they would not purchase gold in the free market.

Q—How long will the higher private market prices last?

A—One Paris gold dealer said "as soon as all the speculators try to sell gold and take their profit, you will have too much gold around" and the price would drop.

Q—Where will the gold come from for the private market?

A—Newly mined gold and gold held by individuals will be the sources. But government-held gold, the bulk of the world's supply, won't be available to individuals.

Q—What about France?

A—France, which pulled out of the gold pool last year, holds about $5 billion in gold. It was not clear immediately if France would dispose of her gold on the private market at the presumably higher price.

Q—What's the long-range prospects for the two-price system?

A—Economists say it is a stop-gap measure. One said the plan will work for a while if the free market price rises up to $50 an ounce, "if it gets higher, the central banks will sell to make a profit," he said.
